

Garden of Wonders

Leave it to Yelena Baturina of Be Open to make an already magical space all the more mystical. The Botanical Garden of Brera will be transformed by Ferruccio Laviani and host eight perfume-themed pavilions, each imagined by highflying designers including the Campana brothers, Nendo and Dimore Studio. Each of the eight-strong design troop will reinterpret a defunct fragrance brand from around the globe, breathing new life into each and giving them a contemporary edge, giving the ephemeral nature of fragrance a lasting experience in the physical realm.

13 April - 24 May; Orto Botanico, Via Brera, 28;
www.beopenfuture.com

Pictured: Dimore Studio render of their Bertelli pavilion

